

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
One copy, one year, $1.00 each $1.00.
One copy, six months 75
No subscriptions taken on time and all papers stopped when out.
One copy sent to any one sending us ten years each subscriber.

HOPKINSVILLE
BUSINESS DICTIONARY.
1882.

LAWYERS.

H. BUCH, Weber Block, with G. A. Champ.
J. H. BOYD & HENRY, Hopper Block, opposite
Court House.

L. A. SPERRY, Hopper Block, over Phelps
L. A. SPERRY.

DOCTORS.

G. H. & T. YOUNG, Homeopathists, over
Gish & Garner's Drug Store.

GAINES & CLARK, office in Henry Block,
Main St.

L. G. ALEXANDER, M. D., over Gray &
Rucker's Drug Store.

MILLINERS.

Mrs. R. L. MARTIN, opposite Phoenix Hotel, up stairs.

Mrs. M. B. RODGERS, Nashville St.,
nearly opposite Christian Church.

DRUGGISTS.

J. H. ARMISTEAD, Henry Block, No. 1,
Main St.

GISH & GARNER, Main Street, Hopkinsville, Ky.

DENTISTS.

CAMPBELL & MEDLEY, Office in new Beard Building.

GROCERS.

PATRICK & YOUNG, Nashville Street, near the depot.

HARRISON & PHAUP, Corner Main and Spring Streets.

HARDWARE & IMPLEMENTS.

C. G. J. FORBES, opposite Main St.,
Warehouse.

J. H. WINFREY & CO., Corner Nashville
and Virginia streets.

FURNITURE AND COFFIN
DEALERS.

A. W. PITTS, up stairs, Henry Block.

ROFO. THOMPSON, E. side Main Street, up stairs, Thompson & Coleman's building.

LIVERY STABLES.

BANNISTER & CO., Bridge St., near Princeton Bridge, J. W. Hubbard, Proprietor.

L. SMITH, corner of Virginia and Spring Streets.

DELL CASHIER, North corner Russellville
and Virginia streets.

HOPKINSVILLE TRANSFER.
JAMES M. HOPKINS.

MANUFACTORY.

EDWARD GANT, Escalator Planing mill,
Vinegar.

OFFICEVILLE PLATING, MFG. CO.,
Vinegar.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY COMMITTEE.

G. A. MEACHAM, Chairman, Hopkinsville.
Chas. M. McCarroll, Secy., ".

B. G. BARKER, ".

J. W. COOK, ".

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, EDITOR

HOPKINSVILLE, DEO. 26, 1882.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Wilbur F. Browder, of Logan Co., is a candidate for Attorney General, subject to the action of the Democratic State Convention. Election in August, 1883.

We are authorized to announce Prof. H. B. Wayland, of Cadiz, as a candidate for County Judge of Trigg county. Election August 1883.

We are authorized to announce Capt. Ralph Sheldon, of Nelson County, a candidate for re-election as Register of the Land Office, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election August 1883.

The Franklin Favorite is for sale.

John Godlove S. Orth, a Republican Congressman from Indiana, died Dec. 17th, in the 67th year of his age.

Rear Admiral Jas. F. Schenck, of the U S Navy, died at his home in Dayton, O, last Thursday in the 75th year of his age.

The Democratic State Central and Executive Committees will meet in Louisville Jan. 10th, to fix a time and place for holding a Democratic State convention.

Judge J. Hop. Price, police judge of Louisville, died of heart disease last Wednesday. He was a man of great popularity, a good judge and a Christian gentleman.

The Breckinridge News of last week contained five columns of closely condensed state and general news. It was a regular encyclopedia of current events.

The trial of Geo. Lenhart for the murder of the Wilborn family last August took place at Evansville last week and resulted in a verdict of not guilty. The defense proved an alibi.

Gov. Blackburn issued a requisition for Col. N. A. Fitzgerald, of the Pension Bureau at Washington, who is charged with forgery in Kenton county, but Chief Justice Carter refused to recognize it and our Governor was snubbed.

The Commonwealth is the name of a new daily paper that has been started at Frankfort, with M. W. Laffey, late of the Sunday News, as editor. It is small but newsy and we trust it may realize its hopes of success.

Miss Mary Anderson, the renowned Kentucky actress, was crowned queen of the stage in Philadelphia last week and pronounced the first living exponent of dramatic art in America. Bally for Mary and hurrah for Kentucky.

We publish this week a card from Capt. Lynn Boyd, of Frankfort, in regard to a recent article in the South Kentuckian. It is not our custom to allow controversies in our columns, but we make an exception in this instance and give Mr. Boyd a chance to explain.

We have received a copy of "The Ashland Tragedy" a pamphlet published by Mr. J. M. Huff, editor of the Ashland Republican. It is a complete history of the murder of the Gibbons children up, to the late slaughter by the State troops and is written in a very readable style.

Boss J. Alexander has been nominated by the Democrats to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Updegraff, Rep., in the 17th Ohio district. Alexander was the defeated competitor of Updegraff at the last election.

The great and only Hobson, of New Jersey, was elected to stay at home after the 4th of March and the President is looking around to find a job for him. It is more than probable that he will succeed Hamlin as Minister to Spain.

There is an unaccountable shortness in the crop of candidates this year. Although the convention will be called to nominate State officers in two weeks it seems that some of the present officers are to meet with no opposition. The race for Governor seems to be made up with Knott, Jones and Owlesley entered. The contest will be close between the first two, with the last named as a formidable "dark horse."

Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Labouchere, her former preceptors, are still telling what they know about each other and the public nostrils are filled with the stench of two well developed scandals. One has been living with Labouchere for years without a divorce from her husband, while the other, with the ocean between her and her husband, is mixed up in an affair of criminal intimacy with young Gebhardt, of New York. They are lovely representatives of the beauty, talent and virtue of the English stage.

Mr. C. W. Bransford, senior editor of the Owensboro Messenger was married last Thursday, the 21st inst. to Miss Virgie Lee Finley, daughter of Dr. W. M. Finley, of Lebanon, Tenn. We congratulate "Tip" upon his good fortune in securing as a helpmate one of the fairest daughters of our sister state and a young lady who possesses many of the most lovable traits of character as well as beauty and accomplishments of a high order. May their union be one of uninterrupted happiness and may they live to celebrate their diamond wedding.

Our readers will bear us out in the assertion that we rarely ever take advantage of any day or season to bore them with gloomy retrospects or roseate visions of the future. We generally go about our business, issue fifty-two papers a year, and let the seasons and annual holidays come and go for what they are worth. The "annual greetings" in most of our exchanges appeared last week prefixing or suffixing the announcement of "no paper next week." We are on time as usual and this number completes the fourth volume of the South Kentuckian. It is the last number that will be published in our present quarters, which have been used for a printing office for almost a score of years. To-day we go into our new rooms in a better and more convenient part of the city and next week we will begin our fifth volume under the most favorable auspices that have blessed the South Kentuckian since it started four years ago.

Looking back over the past we are fully convinced that the wisest step we ever took was the adoption of the cash system. Although we have adhered strictly to the cash plan the year just ending has been the most successful one in the history of the South Kentuckian. Our list is constantly increasing, and over one hundred cash subscribers having been added to it within the last three weeks. We feel thankful to our friends for their generous and continued patronage and it shall be our earnest endeavor to make a paper worthy of being sustained by all. It shall be fearless and out-spoken, and the organ of no set or clique. It will give the news whether individuals like it or not and if any man wants to get mad and stop his paper he can do it. Every man must pay the money down before he can get the paper and when the subscription expires the paper will be stopped. We promise substantial improvements in the near future and we hope to receive an increased patronage. We want the patronage of the public, but we do not come asking it as object of charity or as the children of calamity. We give you the worth of your money in every department of our business but we patronize, for we want our patrons to be benefited as well as ourselves. We start out with the new year, full of hope, with bright prospects and a determination to make the South Kentuckian the best paper in southern Kentucky. Nearly all of our January subscribers have already renewed in advance, which goes to show that they do not intend to let the South Kentuckian stop visiting them, and encourages us more than any need of praise or fulsome eulogy that could be pronounced.

And now a word or two about Christmas. The year 1882 has been a prosperous and successful one everywhere. Misfortune has fallen upon some, but as a general thing the year has been prolific of happiness and we should all for the time being forget our petty troubles and enjoy this gladmost holiday season. Let everybody be happy. The old folks can live over the past, the lovers and sweethearts can hope for the future, the children can enjoy the present and everybody can get the South Kentuckian for $1 50 a year. Let all who do not take it do so at once and you will make us happy for the time being and we will try to make you happy for twelve months. Wishing everybody a merry, thrice merry Christmas and a Happy New Year we will ask you all to rise and receive the benediction.

SMALL CHANGE.

The worst thing that can be said of Judge J. Hop. Price, of Louisville, is that he parted his name in the middle.

Fahrenheit Young has fortified himself with a fresh lot of calendars and will continue to bore his subscribers on the subject of the weather.

Fahrenheit Young's weather news was crowded but last week and with his characteristic modesty he explained that "much interesting original matter was unavoidably omitted."

Thos. Doyle and Katie Morgan, an eloping bridal couple, were found suffocated by gas in a Rochester hotel. Their wedding "blow out" was rather tragic.

Tip Bransford is off, Urey Woodson and Tom Cannon are on the ragged edge of matrimony, Zeno Young is doing some energetic courting and it begins to look like we are to be "solo survivor" of the W. K. P. A. from the matrimonial epidemic that is sweeping over the land.

The fact may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless a certainty that no less than three young ladies, with whom the susceptible young editor of the South Kentuckian has been successively enamored, have married other fellows very unexpectedly to him within two years; and if he denies it we'll prove it on him.—Urey Woodson.

We do you to mention one who has married another fellow without first asking us to excuse her.

A two cent letter postage bill has been passed by the House and unless the Senate kills it, it will become a law.

Judge Bowden, of the Superior Court, has decided that beer is not a spirituous liquor.

The Paducah Times, the only Republican paper in Western Kentucky, has gone to that bourn from whence no traveler ever returns.

FRANKFORT, KY, Dec. 18, '82.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

In a correspondence from this place to the Louisville Post, headed, "Shelton's Shortage," the following interview appears:

"Your reporter met Mr. Lynn Boyd, assistant Register on the street last night and asked him where he could find Capt. Sheldon. Mr. Boyd said that he did not know where Capt. Sheldon was; that he was out of the city. He asked Boyd, had Sheldon made any report since Jan. 1881?"

"No; sir; no report has been made since Jan. 1881."

"Did the Register make any report to the Governor as required by Sec. 11?"

"No; he never has made any report to the Governor."

"Did Gen. Hewitt ever say anything to you about the Land Office being behind, and that he would like to have the report made to him?"

"Yes; Hewitt told me that Sheldon's report had not been made, and that he would like to have the report made to him?"

"Did Capt. Sheldon ever execute a bond?"

"I do not know whether he did or not, but suppose he did."

"Where is that bond?"

"I do not know. The law says it shall be filed with the Auditor of Public Accounts."

"Has the Auditor that bond now?"

"It was told by one of the Clerks that it could not be found, but think it may be in one of the offices. It may have been mislaid."

The correspondence also refers to the amount owing, and to other matters, all of which are presented in a sensational manner, and for which I am not responsible.

In your paper of Dec. 5th, in commenting upon this letter, you say:

"When the law does not require the report to be made at a certain time, it is not surprising that Capt. Sheldon, like other men with an eye to business, should keep the money and use it until it was called for."

This is incorrect. The law only requires the report to be made and the money paid over by a certain time, but imposes a fine of one hundred dollars for every failure; besides, Capt. Sheldon had been called on as often as a dozen times by the Auditor to make his reports. You further say in your paper:

"The Post's article gives an interview with Mr. Lynn Boyd as authority for the statement, and when it is remembered that Mr. Boyd is himself a candidate for the office, the matter is explained. Capt. Sheldon has made a good officer, and this attempt to stab him while he was absent was ungenerous and dishonorable."

The first I heard of the article in your paper, it was being shown around with delight by Capt. Sheldon as a matter to my discredit. I wish it distinctly understood in what I am going to say, that I do not seek to appease the wrath of Capt. Sheldon. His tea-kettle may boil over, so far as I am concerned. I can only quench his own fire. I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole of it as a loose way of doing business. Now, I am sorry that your paper is the only one that has referred to me in the manner you have. I am especially sorry because it is published within twelve miles of where I was born and raised, among relatives, schoolmates and friends of my youth. My hope is to convince you that you have done me an injustice. The matters spoken of by me in the interview, are facts that have not been, and will not be denied. I am not responsible for any other portion of the letter, and have from the first despised and condemned the tone of it. The Post's article does not give the interview with me as authority for the statement, as said by you. The reporter had heard of the facts, and had determined to write the article before he saw me. I did not seek the interview, and was sorry to be called on, because of my being a candidate. I had never spoken to the correspondent about the matter, and had no previous knowledge or intimation of his intention to interview me. I did not know what paper he represented.

Now, my dear sir, Capt. Sheldon is a candidate, and in his defense he refers to his past official conduct as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. These things are in regard to his official conduct, to which he invites the attention of the public. I have never dreamed that Capt. Sheldon intended to defraud the State, but have looked at the whole

Our rates have been reduced to $1.50 strictly cash in advance and all papers are stopped when the subscriptions expire. Experience has taught us that this is the proper way to conduct a newspaper. We force no man to take the paper after his time is out.

SOCIALITIES.

Dr. T. G. Keon is in Evansville. Messrs. Smith and Lou Gaines are in Louisville.

Mr. T. C. Campbell is home from law school.

Prof. J. B. Reynolds, of Louisville, is at the Phoenix.

Judge W. S. Randolph, of Princeton, was in the city Friday.

Mrs. R. A. Burnett, of Cadiz, is visiting friends in Clarksville.

Messrs. Ed and Phil Gathen returned last week from a visit to relatives at Hazardburg.

Miss Lou Held is spending the holidays in Clarksville, with her sister, Mrs. T. P. Major.

Miss Aarne Williams, of the Public schools, is spending the holidays at home in Nashville.

Capt. W. H. Yost Jr., of Greenville, was in the city Saturday and paid us a pleasant call.

Miss Hattie Grinter, of Cadiz, passed through the city Saturday on her way home from school at Nashville.

Mrs. S. H. Burbridge and Miss Lizzie Tandy are spending the week with Mrs. Tom Smith, of Hazardville.

Mr. Geo. H. Pike, of the Greenville Echo, is in the city the guest of his brother Mr. E. A. Pike at the European Hotel.

Judge W. M. Beckner and wife, of Winchester, will reach the city to-day and will be the guests of Dr. L. B. Hickman.

Mrs. Mark McCarty and her daughter, Miss Lizzie, of Cadiz, went to St. Louis Saturday to spend the Christmas.

Miss Mamie Hunter, of Paducah, will return from a week's visit to Gallatin to-day and will spend the week in this city.

Mr. S. T. Eadow, of Bloomington, Ill., is visiting his father-in-law, Mr. J. W. Harry and other relatives and will probably remain in several weeks.

Miss Mallie Lindsey, of Cadiz, passed through the city last week enroute to LaGrange, Ga., where she will spend the winter.

Miss Carrie McCutcheon, of Auburn, who has been attending school in this city throughout Friday and will not return.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Murphy, of Madisonville, Mr. Burnett Wilford, Miss Lizzie Wilford and Miss Ida Wilson, of Cadiz, constituted a wedding party that passed through the city en route for Madisonville Wednesday.

Dr. Andrew Sargent returned from Stanford last week in time to attend the Gary-Hammer nuptials at Morganfield last Wednesday. He is now at home again and is located for the present with Dr. Fairleigh.

HOPKINSVILLE.

Canton, Dec. 7th 1882.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKY.

The interesting event of the day was the grand exit of Mr. W. J. Hopson from a state of celibacy and his state entrance into the elysian seas of matrimony.

At 2 o'clock P. M., Mr. Hopson was married to Miss Lizzie Sted, of Christian Co., by the Rev. J. C. Tate, of Hopkinville.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the thrice happy pair repaired to the residence of Mrs. Joshua Hopson where a cordial reception awaited them.

We have never attended a more pleasant affair and are deeply indebted to Mr. Hopson for a most delightful evening.

The rarely gifted and beautiful Miss Lizzie has verified her high estimate of noble characters by selecting one of Canton's best young men. "She is pure as a pearl and as perfect" — may she ever be as happy as now and wear a chaplet of sunbeams to deck the brow of her noble husband.

We forbear to attempt an extended eulogy of the merits of one as well known as Mr. Hopson.

He is the noblest of God's work — a Christian gentleman whose heart is as far from guile as heaven from earth.

We were so perfectly absorbed in the radiance of each face that we cannot give a faithful description of the beautiful toiling, and must conclude with the subject of "present."

From mother to the groom, silver spoons, knives and forks; Mrs. Wm. Withers, of Hopkinville, chaste, silver butter-stand and knife; Maj. Seldon, of Clarksville, silver and cut-glass pickle-stand and fork; handsome gold bracelets and bangles gold pieces engraved with initials W. J. H. to L. M. S. present from groom; beautiful sapphires, from Mrs. J. R. Willis; gold initial pin, from Miss Kathleen Clark, of Hopkinville; gold pen, from Miss Daisy Lee Johnson; antique chamber set, from Mr. and Mrs. Lacy, Evansville, Ind. The happy pair are very popular at home and abroad, and have received numerous congratulations — dum vicimus, vicimus.

Brown.

The post office is not yet moved into its new quarters on Bridge St.

The office of The SOUTH KENTUCKIAN will be moved to-day to the rooms over McKee & Son's grocery, in the Hord building, Nashville street, in the rear of the Phoenix Hotel.

HERE AND THERE

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.

Norwood & Gant, fire insurance.

Miss Mollie Martin, fire insurance.

Christmas eve was as lovely a day as any one could desire.

No preaching at the Baptist church Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor.

There will be preaching at Shiloh next Sunday by Rev. I. W. Emerson.

The public schools adjourned Friday and will not resume until next Monday.

The rubbish is being cleared off Mr. Geo. O. Thompson's lots on east Main.

Come to this office to get Anchor Square and Satchel Bottom bags. We carry none but the best goods and sell at city prices.

The semi-annual election of officers of Evergreen Lodge, K. of P., comes off Thursday night. A full attendance of the members is desired.

The Hopkinsville small boy must go outside of the corporation limits when he goes to "shooting off" his fire works and having of his fun."

A missionary meeting will be held at Locust Grove on the 30th and 31st insts. Salem, Olivet, South Union and Locust Grove churches are requested to send delegations.

The public school building for the colored children is now rapidly approaching completion. It only lacks the desks and seats when it will be ready to be opened.

With the thermometer at 50 degrees, the sun shining pleasantly, the merchants all doing a good business and the South Kentuckian out as usual, it seems that Christmas is all that could be desired.

Mr. W. C. Morton of Madisonville, has been acting as night operator in the depot office for some time past in place of Mr. Rowe, who fell and sprained his arm so badly that he has been laid up for a week or more.

Mr. J. A. Boyd, of Kelly Station, raised a litter of seven pigs from one that averaged 201 pounds at ten months and three days old. The smallest weighed 232 pounds and largest 293 pounds not.

Mr. J. H. Pearce, of this city, has been appointed manager of the telephone exchange in Hopkinsville, Ky., as well as in this city, and spent a part of last week in Hopkinsville looking after the business of the concern. The place could not have been more efficiently filled.—Clarksville Tobacco Leaf.

The protracted meeting at West Union Baptist church, Bellevue, closed last week. The pastor was assisted by Rev. R. W. Morehead, of Princeton, and Rev. J. T. Barrow, of this city. The result of the meeting was twelve conversions and nine admissions to the church.

Messrs. Fox & Embry, of Garrettsburg, received five thoroughbred shorthorn cattle from Northern Kentucky last week. Mr. W. E. Embry sold a high graded cow and calf last week for $65. It pays to raise fine stock and we are glad to see that more interest is being taken in the improvement of stock in the county.

In another column appears the advertisement of a new coal yard which will be opened January 1st, by Mr. R. A. West, late of the firm of West & Yancey. Mr. West is a straight-forward energetic business man, and will merit and receive a good share of the public patronage.

Rev. E. F. Powell will deliver the opening address at the Teachers' Association to-night. The exercises will be both entertaining and instructive and the public is cordially invited to attend. The meeting will be held in the court-house and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance all through the session of the association.

The Southern Business College, of Louisville, is one of the best commercial schools in the South-west.

Its faculty is an unusually strong one; its course of instruction the very best and its character at home and abroad is such that the institution richly merits the patronage and commendation of all young men who desire a first-class education in book-keeping, especially. A conspicuous advertisement of the college appears elsewhere. For particulars address Weaver & DeSollar, Louisville, Ky.

The South Kentuckian office will be moved to day to the two large and commodious rooms over McKee & Son's grocery, in the Hord building, on Nashville street. The rooms have been remodeled and fitted up especially for our use, and will make the handsomest and most conveniently arranged printing office in Western Kentucky. The location is one of the best in the city, being on Nashville street near Main and only a few squares from the depot. After to day we shall be pleased to receive our friends in our new quarters.

The post office is not yet moved into its new quarters on Bridge St.

GARY-HAMMER: At the residence of the bride's father, near Morgantown, Ky., Wednesday, Dec. 20th, 1882, by the Rev. J. B. Haynes, Mr. C. G. Gary, Jr., of Christian, to Miss Ernest Hammer, of Union Co., Ky. The contracting parties were attired in traveling dress, and immediately after the conclusion of the ceremony, partook of the elegant repast spread for them, bade hasty farewell to guests and relatives and took a private conveyance for Henderson. Owing to the heaviness of the roads they missed the night train and remained at Henderson until Tuesday morning, when they boarded the train for Hopkinsville, which place they reached about 1:30 o'clock of that day.

A little romance connected with their engagement might not be uninteresting. The fathers of the happy couple were related to each other and came from the same county in Virginia into this State some forty years ago. Since soon after their arrival in this State there has been but little communication between the heads of the two families, one having settled in this county and one in Union Three summers ago the groom elect having found out the address of his fair cousin, made bold to write and ask permission to correspond. This was granted on the strength of relationship by blood, and a constant exchange of letters began. These letters soon took on a warmer caste than so distant a kinship would seem to justify. Eight months ago they met and a strong attachment was formed, which eventuated in marriage. May this union, which would thus seem to have been ordained of Heaven, be a happy one. May their days on earth be many and their locks grow gray together, and when the final summons comes, may the funeral knell be as the wedding chimes for a reunion in the realms where Long's are of the making.

That will never know the breaking.

CHRISTIAN-CARNAK: At the residence of Mr. Geo. H. Major, near Beverly, Wednesday, Dec. 20, 1882, by Rev. E. W. Bottomley, Mr. R. E. Christian, of Fayetteville, Tenn., to Miss Jessie Carnes, of Paducah, Ky.

McPHERSON-MORTON: At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Jno. G. Morton, Madisonville, Ky., Tuesday, Dec. 19th, 1882, at 8:15 o'clock P. M., Mr. Joel D. McPherson of this city to Miss Lizzie Y. Morton. The ceremony was pronounced in the presence of a number of the friends of the contracting parties and their marriage was the culmination of the romantic sensation which had filled the papers, for two weeks previous.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson arrived in this city on the 1:30 train Wednesday and have taken rooms at Mr. Wm. Cowan's. They have our sincerest congratulations and very best wishes for happiness throughout all time to come.

MCATTS-NEW: At the residence of the bride's parents, Canton, Ky., Dec. 20, 1882, Mr. Z. T. McAtte to Miss Nellie New. They were attended by several couples of young people whose names we did not learn. Mr. McAtte has a number of friends in this county who will wish him a long life of happiness.

FOULKS-COLEMAN: In Clarksville, Tenn., Tuesday Dec. 19th, 1882, Mr. W. E. Foulks and Miss Fannie Coleman, both of this city. Their engagement was merely for romance, as there was no opposition from either side. They returned home on the 8:30 train Tuesday evening. Mr. Foulks is a son of Mr. E. L. Foulks, of this city, and is a young gentleman who enjoys the confidence and respect of all who know him. The bride is one of the most bewitching and intellectual young ladies of this city. She is quite young, having only recently graduated from South Kentucky College. She is a grand daughter of Post master Jno. B. Gowen. The young couple have our best wishes for happiness throughout all time to come.

MCATTS-NEW: At the residence of the bride's parents, Canton, Ky., Dec. 20, 1882, Mr. Z. T. McAtte to Miss Nellie New. They were attended by several couples of young people whose names we did not learn. Mr. McAtte has a number of friends in this county who will wish him a long life of happiness.

FOULKS-COLEMAN: In Clarksville, Tenn., Tuesday Dec. 19th, 1882, Mr. W. E. Foulks and Miss Fannie Coleman, both of this city. Their engagement was merely for romance, as there was no opposition from either side. They returned home on the 8:30 train Tuesday evening. Mr. Foulks is a son of Mr. E. L. Foulks, of this city, and is a young gentleman who enjoys the confidence and respect of all who know him. The bride is one of the most bewitching and intellectual young ladies of this city. She is quite young, having only recently graduated from South Kentucky College. She is a grand daughter of Post master Jno. B. Gowen. The young couple have our best wishes for happiness throughout all time to come.

MURPHY-DARNALL: At the Methodist church, Cadiz, Ky., Wednesday, Dec. 20th, 1882, Mr. C. H. Murphy, of Madisonville, to Miss George Lee Darnall, of Cadiz. The bridal party passed through this city at 3 o'clock P. M., enroute for Madisonville, where they were given a reception at night.

MURPHY-DARNALL: At the Methodist church, Cadiz, Ky., Wednesday, Dec. 20th, 1882, Mr. C. H. Murphy, of Madisonville, to Miss George Lee Darnall, of Cadiz. The bridal party passed through this city at 3 o'clock P. M., enroute for Madisonville, where they were given a reception at night.

There is rumor of another wedding before the 1st of January.

Mrs. Cooper gave her boarders a magnificent Christmas dinner yesterday.

The banks and telegraph office were closed yesterday and will be closed next Monday.

Many persons are paying high prices for herdsgrass or timothy for their cows, not knowing that Mr. D. Summers is selling better hay at 60 cents per cwt.

The Kentucky Minstrels composed of colored local talent, will give an entertainment at the Courthouse Friday evening, Dec. 29th. The company is under the management of Edmunds & Sykes, and they propose to give a first-class minstrel show including clog and jig dances, songs, etc.

In another column will be found a report of the first year's work of the Christian Women's Charity Association, composed of the benevolent ladies of this city irrespective of denominational lines. The Association is calculated to do a power of good in the community, and it deserves the support and encouragement of our people.

Young man, in the following paragraph, you will find the entire law and the testimony:

Young man, save that pennypick up that plow; let that account be correct to a farthing; find out what the bid of ribbon costs before you take it; pay the half dime your friend handed you to make change with; in a word, be economical, be accurate, and know what you are doing; be honest; and then be generous; for all you have or acquire thus belongs to you by every rule of right, and you may put it to any good use you please. It is not necessary to be economical. It is not small to know the price of the article you are about to purchase, or to remember a little debt you owe, what if you do meet Bill Pride be decked out in a much better suit than yours, the price of which he has not yet learned from the tailor who laughs at your faded dress, and old-fashioned notions of honesty and right — your day will come. Franklin, from a penny-saving boy, walking in the street with a loaf of bread under his arm, became a companion of kings. — American Farmer.

Young man, in the following paragraph, you will find the entire law and the testimony:

Young man, save that pennypick up that plow; let that account be correct to a farthing; find out what the bid of ribbon costs before you take it; pay the half dime your friend handed you to make change with; in a word, be economical, be accurate, and know what you are doing; be honest; and then be generous; for all you have or acquire thus belongs to you by every rule of right, and you may put it to any good use you please. It is not necessary to be economical. It is not small to know the price of the article you are about to purchase, or to remember a little debt you owe, what if you do meet Bill Pride be decked out in a much better suit than yours, the price of which he has not yet learned from the tailor who laughs at your faded dress, and old-fashioned notions of honesty and right — your day will come. Franklin, from a penny-saving boy, walking in the street with a loaf of bread under his arm, became a companion of kings. — American Farmer.

Young man, in the following paragraph, you will find the entire law and the testimony:

Young man, save that pennypick up that plow; let that account be correct to a farthing; find out what the bid of ribbon costs before you take it; pay the half dime your friend handed you to make change with; in a word, be economical, be accurate, and know what you are doing; be honest; and then be generous; for all you have or acquire thus belongs to you by every rule of right, and you may put it to any good use you please. It is not necessary to be economical. It is not small to know the price of the article you are about to purchase, or to remember a little debt you owe, what if you do meet Bill Pride be decked out in a much better suit than yours, the price of which he has not yet learned from the tailor who laughs at your faded dress, and old-fashioned notions of honesty and right — your day will come. Franklin, from a penny-saving boy, walking in the street with a loaf of bread under his arm, became a companion of kings. — American Farmer.

Young man, in the following paragraph, you will find the entire law and the testimony:

Young man, save that pennypick up that plow; let that account be correct to a farthing; find out what the bid of ribbon costs before you take it; pay the half dime your friend handed you to make change with; in a word, be economical, be accurate, and know what you are doing; be honest; and then be generous; for all you have or acquire thus belongs to you by every rule of right, and you may put it to any good use you please. It is not necessary to be economical. It is not small to know the price of the article you are about to purchase, or to remember a little debt you owe, what if you do meet Bill Pride be decked out in a much better suit than yours, the price of which he has not yet learned from the tailor who laughs at your faded dress, and old-fashioned notions of honesty and right — your day will come. Franklin, from a penny-saving boy, walking in the street with a loaf of bread under his arm, became a companion of kings. — American Farmer.

Young man, in the following paragraph, you will find the entire law and the testimony:

Young man, save that pennypick up that plow; let that account be correct to a farthing; find out what the bid of ribbon costs before you take it; pay the half dime your friend handed you to make change with; in a word, be economical, be accurate, and know what you are doing; be honest; and then be generous; for all you have or acquire thus belongs to you by every rule of right, and you may put it to any good use you please. It is not necessary to be economical. It is not small to know the price of the article you are about to purchase, or to remember a little debt you owe, what if you do meet Bill Pride be decked out in a much better suit than yours, the price of which he has not yet learned

THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN
B-137, bet. Main and River
HOPKINSVILLE KY.

CLUB LIST.

We will furnish the following papers and periodicals to the SOUTH KENTUCKIAN at unobtrusive cheap rates:
W. & C. Courier-Journal $2.75
Farmers Home Journal 1.00
Peterson's Magazine 1.00
Godey's Magazine 1.00
National Magazine 1.00
U. S. Monthly 2.25

EXCHANGE SCINTILLATIONS.

The warning sign at railroad crossings is a truck shun of travel.—Breckenridge News.

Venus didn't have a good show. It was a sick transit, so to speak.—Georgetown Times.

It matters not how disagreeable a landlord is you are obliged to put up with him.—Glasgow Times.

Even the most desperate burglar, when he goes to rob a bank, believes in going on the safe side.—Glasgow Times.

Canada fuel is so high that it is cheaper for a family to pay fifty cents to heat a lecture in a warm hall, than to stay at home and burn coal.—Elizabethtown News.

Wilhem, the violinist, is coming to America again. If he would leave the last letter of his name in Europe, there would be less dispute in this country over its proper pronunciation.—Pad News.

Si. Goram has sued an Indiana county for remuneration for building a bridge. It appears that the county, not possessing Ventian taste, doesn't want to pay for a bridge of Si.'s.—Breckenridge News.

The papers are all publishing an article about an editor who couldn't tell a lie. Why not publish something wonderul while they are about it.—An editor who could tell a lie, for instance.—Mayfield Democrat.

There is a prospect of Cincinnati people having to give Germany the go by hereafter when they do Europe. Our Teutonic fellow men are talking about prohibiting the importation of American hogs.—Sunday Argus.

Venus, in her transit, acted as many women do, hid a grand sight on which men would have looked with rapture, by wearing a veil. It is supposed that she did not want any one to see her when she kissed old Sol.—State Sentinel.

"Does your Helen remind you of Helen, of Troy?" she asked sweetly, as the sofa springs flattened under a pressure of 160 pounds. "No, not precisely; you remind me more of Helen, of Aroquois," was his scaly reply.—Sunday Argus.

She went into a shop to buy some toilet soap, and while the shopman was extorting on its merits, about made up her mind to purchase, but when he said it would keep off chaps, she said she didn't want that kind.—Elizabethtown News.

We want to live to see the day when there will be a cry for our photographs, the same as they are now crying for John G. Carlisle's. As yet none cry for ours but women; but when the demand is ampler than the supply— we've only got one.—State Journal.

When the brass wears off a "solid gold" watch-chain and the iron begins to show, is the time to put it in the heirloom box in the bureau drawer along with other faded jewelry to fool bunglers with should break in your house and steal.—State Journal.

The adage that "the person who wears a straw hat in the winter has money in the bank," is as true as preaching. While visiting a city recently a straw-hat citizen of this place put a sum of money in a faro bank, which has never been checked out yet.—Dixon Pollywog.

President Arthur and the Republican party remind one just now of the Indiana man who bet $10 that he could ride the fly-wheel in a saw mill. As the widow paid the bet, she remarked: "Cheat was a kind husband in providing for his family, but he didn't know much about fly-wheels."—Texas Sittings.

Literary.—The first number of volume 14 of that highly interesting and exciting novel, entitled "Congressional Record," has been received. This work, every line of which can not fail to make the reader laugh outright, is especially designed to sick people. No man who has a sick wife and wants to get married again should be without it.—State Journal.

"The Multifarious Mashes of a Masher; or, the Villain Still Persues Her," is the title of a novella we expect to construct in the near future. Of course every body will instinctively associate the editor of the South Kentuckian in connection with this sizzling story, and they will not be far wrong in their conjectures.—That v. Young.

Consequential news document, the Con- regular daily visits again paying it is though for mouth it is office. Al- though still to memory it was lost to dear as ever.

"You may break, you may shatter
The vase if you will,
But the cost of the roses
Will hang round it still."

—Bowling Green Gazette.

Farmers and others desiring a general, lucrative agency business, by which $5. to $20. a day can be earned, send address at once, to H. C. WILKINSON & Co., 195 and 197 Fulton Street, New York.

At Lisleville, N. C., Alex Dockery killed Slawson Mapes and Richard Orbits, his wife's paramours and then made his escape. The woman attempted to join him and was arrested.

Thorton's Celebrated English remedies are put up by the Nashville Medicine Co., and for sale at all leading druggists. No cheap ingredients used, and not put into sudden nostrity.

Incendiaries fired a house in Hend- rickson county, Tenn., and Carroll Burton aged 30, was burned alive.

Dixon is now an anti-slavery town. A Madison county hog weighs 750 pounds.

Gen. Sidney Burbank, of Newport, is dead.

The Superior court has adjourned till Jan. 3.

Henry Bell, col., was killed by the cars at Georgetown.

There are 619 patients in the Lexington Lunatic Asylum.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson was killed by falling down stairs at Danville.

Col. Wm. B. Peagam, dropped dead in Logan county.

Mrs. Mattie D. Todd, has been re-appointed post master, at Cynthiana.

Owen East killed Wm. Casey in Madison county, for betraying his sister.

The steamer "S. V. Pence," burned to the water's edge in Frankfort. Loss $5,000.

Henry H. Johnson fell from a load of hay in Daviess county, and was killed.

The Parlor Concert Club of Russellville presented the opera "Patience" last week.

Buck Merritt, who murdered John Johnson, has been lodged in jail at Somerset.

A fire at Paducah Dec. 8 destroyed the Southern Hotel and two stores. Loss $10,000.

Wm. Jones, a Fayette county highway robber, has been pardoned by the Governor.

Milton Young, the noted turfman, was married Dec. 14th to Miss Lucy Spalti, of Uniontown, Ky.

The Soldiers' Home, government property, at Harrodsburg, is to be sold to the highest bidder.

The Messenger says the electric light was successfully established on the court house cupola in Owensboro last week. Owensboro is second only to Louisville in securing the electric light.

Mrs. Ellis Ann Nally, aged 63, committed suicide in Louisville by taking "Rough on Rats." This makes eight suicides in that city since Nov. 1.

The Grittenden Press published the evidence in full in the case of R. M. Wilborn, who killed Guess at Marion. Wilborn got five years in the penitentiary.

Alvin White, of Bowling Green, volunteered to act as brakeman to let a friend "lay off" one trip on an L. & N., freight, and fell from the cars and was instantly killed, near Frankfort.

Thos. Kearns, aged 80 years, united with the Methodist church, at Oddville, Harrison county, last week. Rev. Jas. C. Crow, the officiating minister, is in his 82nd year.

B. C. Atkins, of Woodford county, was found dead on the floor of his room in the Merriweather Hotel, at Frankfort. He had blown out the gas or intentionally left the jet open.

100 Reward

Is offered for any case of Cataract that can't be cured with Hall's Cut-arrant Cure. Take internally. Price 75 cents.

Jas. B. Grant, of Colorado, is the youngest Governor, and A. H. Stephens, of Georgia, the oldest.

BUCHUPALBA.

Quick, complete cure, all annoying Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Disease. $1. Druggists.

A bloody fight took place at Opelika between the backers of the old and new city council tickets and ten men were shot down and most of them fatally wounded.

A man is wiser for his learning, and the sooner he learns it the only proper way to cure a Cough or Cold, is to use Dr. Bell's Cough Syrup, the better he is off.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS

For the Cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Incipient Consumption and for the relief of consumptive persons in advanced stages of the Disease. For Sale by all Druggists.—Price, 25 cents.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to the public the secret of its cure, and will therefore, in a short time, send a pamphlet to all who desire it, a full and clear description of the prescription used, for preparing and using the medicine, and the directions for taking it.

Consumptive persons are greatly benefited by this medicine.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new lease of life.

Old fashioned remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned remedies are rapidly going out of use, but have been quite exploded by the success of the great remedy which tones the system, tranquilles the nerves, and gives the system a new